Ambitious Scheme To Restore Nation To Pre-War Position

New York, June 16.

A major political battle appeared certain to develop over plans of Japanese industrialists and some Government officials to restore their country to its former position as Asia's arsenal, William Jorden wrote in the New York Times today.

He said that a threat to Premier Shigeru Yoshida had developed this week with the disclosure of some elements of a five-year defence plan worked out by the Government National Safety Agency.

The correspondent said that the plan called for a military buildup which by 1958 would give the army-like Safety Corps 200,000 men, provide 150,000 tons of coastal patrol shipping, including five aircraft carriers, and establish an air force of about 1,500 military planes, half of them jets.

Turn For Better In Talks On Situation

Bangkok, June 16.

Talks on the withdrawal of General Li Mi's troops from Burma took a turn for the better today when the heads of the four delegations met at the same table for the first time "informally" since the meeting opened on May 23.

The Chinese Nationalist delegate, Colonel I Fu De, and the Burmese delegate, Colonel Aung Gyi, sat together for the first time at the usual meeting table in the United States Embassy with Colonel Chartchai Chunhawan, the Thailand delegate, and Colonel Raymond B. Palmer, the American Military Attache and the Mr Winthrop Aldrich, United United States delegate.

KOREA PREMIER SAYS SOUTH WILL FIGHT ON

New York, June 16:

Mr Paik Too Chip, Prime Minister of South Korea, who arrived in New York today by air from London on his way to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower, told reporters at the dirport that there was little possibility that the President of South Korea, Mr Syngman Rhee, would change his views regarding the truce.

He said that Mr Rhee's views "are not his views but the views of the Korean people."

OJACOBY ON BRIDGE

Good Player Can Correct Errors

BY OSWALD JACOBY

ENVEN the very best bridge players don't always make the perfect play on every hand. This is true of the average bridge player too, but there is an important difference. The average bridge player may miss the correct play in a particular dituation and never realise that he has made a mistake.

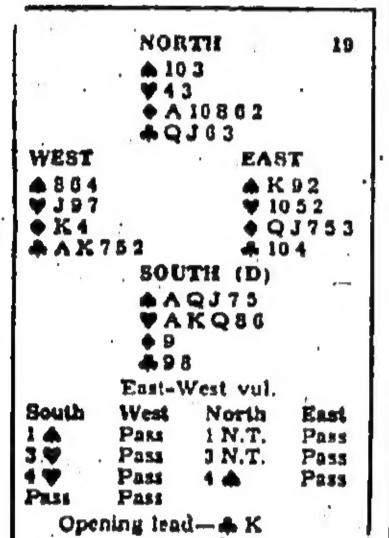

When the expert misses the right play, however, he eventunlly sees his mistake and is therefore prepared to make the right play the next time he meets a similar situation.

... When today's hand was played in a match point tournament in Pittsburgh, recently, there was no way to defeat the contract of four spades. The only question was whether or not declarer was going to make an extra trick. (In a match point tournament, the extra 30 points for the overtrick are of great importance.)

PETERS TEST MATCH OUT INTO A TAME DRAW

Hutton And Simpson Comfortably Play Out Time With In Two Hours' Batting

Nottingham, June 16.

After the first three days of dramatic cricket, with fortunes fluctuating rapidly, the first Test between England and Australia petered out into a tame draw.

It was an anti-climax to the earlier thrills as England plodded placidly to 120 for one wicket on a rain-sodden pitch.

England, who lost the Ashes to Australia in 1934 and have not beaten them in a Test at home since 1938, can justifiably feel that the rain robbed them of a victorious start to the present series. .

Hutton signalled from the Wardle, the two big hitters in the slife to pad up, which suggested that England were at least going to try a spell of aggression if a wicket fell. Lindwall went on at 64, but he took a leisurely run and did not unduly exert himself.

Only academie interest remained now and Hassett withdrew hir attacking field for all bowlers. When relieved by Hill at 90, Bill Johnston had bowled 17 overs for 14 runs, a tribute to his sleadiness on an unhelpful pitch. England had scored 58 in 90

World Food Output

Rome, June 16. Agricultural production through the world-excluding Russia and Chinahas risen by 20 per cent over pre-war figures, the 18-nation Council of the Food and Agricultural Organisation (FAO) was told here. But in North America. where the production level is very high, and in the Far East, where it is very low, the increase has not been more than four or five per cent. The For East is still producing only 80 to 85 per cent of its pre-war per capita output. Figures for Russia and China are not available to the FAO.-Reuter.
